P3 2006 Developing Canadian PPP Models That Deliver

Golden Ears Bridge

Royal Ottawa Hospital

Canada is entering a new stage in the development of public-private partnerships. The new wave of projects procured over the past four years are now under construction with some operational or soon to be. Others are in procurement and more are scheduled to join the list to be undertaken in the future.

The 2006 November conference will look at the progress being made, the experience being gained and examine the characteristics of the Canadian models emerging in this country. With extensive expertise now domestically and abroad, we can examine what is working and what it will take to build on the current momentum.

The National Conference program is developed by CCPPP in cooperation with our government and private sector members. It is designed to provide opportunities to discuss current issues arising in the development of PPP (and AFP) in this country and to showcase domestic and international projects of note. A mix of both general and technical sessions will offer something for everyone – whether you are a seasoned expert or new to the field.

Over 550 people attend the conference and National Awards Dinner during the two days of this event. If you work in PPP or have an interest in it, you will find this an important place to be.

DAY ONE Hon. Lawrence Cannon starts the day with a glimpse of his government's position on infrastructure in Canada. The heads of four provincial PPP/AFP programs and initiatives – Larry Blain, Pierre Lefebvre, Jay Ramotar and David Livingston – will provide a cross-Canada update of PPP's with comment on federal government infrastructure investment by Louis Ranger. An expert panel from the UK

Hon. Lawrence Cannon,
Minister of Transport,
Infrastructure and Communities,
Government of Canada

(Timothy Stone, Richard Abadie) will offer a critical assessment of the UK's PFI/PPP program and 500-plus projects. Any lessons for Canada? Catch the great debate as experts (Ball, Bergevin, Byers, Hounjet, Cathcart, Marasco) square off on PPP's hot-button issues – PPP models, bidder compensation, sale of equity and committed finance. Hear from developers and constructors (Beck, Claggett, Brown, Anthony, Burke) about managing
